elected official, presided with his usual grace and dignity at the meeting of the Stock Exchange today, but was not able to put a very exciting session to his credit. Nor did Secretary Woodruff appear to be overburdened with the duties and cares of office.

There was a lack of snap and ginger about the proceedings which was surprising, in view of the recent exciting developments connected with the stock of the Washington Railway common in the past few days. The boom appeared to have spent itself and the trading fell away to but 300 shares, which came or a declining scale from 41% to 41%, with a slight fractional recovery at the close. It had rather been expected by the unusually large audience who gathered to see the fun that the advance would continue, but the friends of the stock were inclined to allow it to rest for a short time before pressing their advantage further.

Capital Traction was fractionally stronger and crossed the 145 level on small sales. Washington Loan and Trust came out on lower bids and sold at 217, as against 220 in the earlier part of the week. It now stands at the same figure that was daily bid ali of last week.

Bonds were fairly well taken, and prices held strong in all cases where sales occurred.
